JAMAIS VU

by Anne Seagrave

RETURNING TO 'JAMAIS VU'

'Jamais Vu' a performance/installation by the artist Anne Seagrave was premiered in January 2005 as part of the Granary's 'Bodily Functions' programme of live art. This is a call out in search of spectators who were present at the original performance in 2005. You are invited to participate in a performance research project investigating sensations of memory and the relationship between live event and document. Participants will be individually guided through a series of memory exercises and asked to recall their experience of 'Jamais Vu'. This process will be documented and the memories you deposit will be integrated into an installation/presentation.

30min slots for one participant at a time
